

AVR Top Level

Reset

An external push button reset switch is included on the AVR processor. The reset is an active low input and can only be activated if the master switch is off. The reset causes all registers to reset to 0 the state machine to return to the idle state.